FRAUDS OF LAST TUESDAY

Enough Were Committed to Give Excellent Grounds for a Contest.

How Candidates, Citizens, and the Police View the Outrages of Deputy Marshals on the Voters, Workers, and the Ballot-Box.

There is not the least doubt among the Republicans of this county but that nearly, if not quite, every man on the county ticket would have been elected had there been an honest election. Before the polls closed last Tuesday it was evident that if intimidation and fraud could succeed the Democrats were going to be successful in this county. They did not depend upon any one method for getting votes fraudulently. They kept many weak-minded men away from the polis by having their deputy marshals threaten almost every Republican who offered to vote, they stuffed the ballot-box in three precincts, voted double tickets, and voted men who had been incurably insane for a quarter of a century, and who could not give their names to the inspectors. It seems to be the unanimous epinion that if ever men had just cause to conlest an election the candidates on the Republican ticket have. The total vote of the county is evidence that either ballot-boxes were stuffed. double ballots were voted, or that repeating was done. The total vote, according to the official coupt, was 35.110. In 1884 it was but 28,634. On the poll the two parties were given a voting population a little over 33,000, and it was believed that every man in the county who was entitled to vote had been polled. According to W. W. Spencer, county attorney, the Democratic poll-book showed the names of 1,000 men in this county who had lost their votes by moving after the time limit had expired. If that statement is true, the official count shows a voting population of 36,112, about 2,000 more than either party had estimated. Where these votes came from the Democrats themselves do not pretend to say, but the Republicans have indisputable evidence that many of them were illegal. In a haif dozen precincts men were voted who had no right to vote, and Republicans who were legal voters were barred out by the intimidation methods of the Democrats.

Outrages were carried to the furthest limit in the third precinct of the Twentythird ward, and the fourth precinct of Wayne township, and it is these two precincts the Republicans will ask the courte to throw out. The Democratic members of the election board in the Twenty-third ward precinct do not deny that when the vote was counted out there were eighteen more ballots than persons who had voted. How this came about they do not claim to know, but they are honest enough to admit that one double ballot was discovered, and that some one had put an advertising dedger into the box. In the fourth precinct of Wayne township the scenes on election day were simply sickening if they were as described by reputable men. A wagon-load of twenty incurably insane men voted. The Republicans protested, but the votes were received by Inspector Miller over the challenges of the Republicans. An affidavit has been made, stating that when one poor man was asked his name he replied, "Jesus Christ, the Lord of Hosts." The Democrats considered it a joke, and after his ballot had been deposited in the box more voters of the same kind were brought on. There is also evidence of fraud in several other precincts on which a contest could be based, but the Republicans feel that they have plenty of evidence in these two precints to warrant any just court in reversing the result. The Republican candidates will hold a conference to-day to determine upon what course they will pursue. They all feel that they have been defeated through fraud, and are anxious to have a court pass upon the facts. There was talk yesterday of calling a public indignation meeting and raising a fund for the prosecution of the contests, and such a meeting may be called yet. Many citizens, express themselves as willing to contribute to assist in exposing the real means by which the Democrats overturned an honest Republican majority in the county. If the court holds that the two precincts meationed above should be thrown out, it will elect Tincher, prosecutor, and a part of the legislative ticket.

"You may say that I will be the next prosecutor" said Mr. Tincher yesterday, "I propose to contest the election, and I believe every candidate on the Republican ticket ought to join me, for I firmly believe that we were all elected by the honest vote of the county. Any court will be in law bound to throw out the third precinct of the Twenty-third ward and the fourth presenct of Wayne township. I have not yet determined whether I will bring quo warranto proceedings, or file a contast before the commissioners in the regular way I am inclined to think that I will bring quo warranto proceedings." Nearly all the other candidates were seen, and they stated that they proposed to join Mr. Tincher in asking the courts whether or not fraud had been committed. They all believed that with an honest vote every candidate on the Republican ticket would have been elected by majorities ranging from 100 to 500.

The Democrate still threaten to attempt to onst Dr. Wagner from the coroner's office by asking the courts to throw out the second precinct of the Thirteenth ward, where the regthey make any legal move in that direction the Republicans will ask to have the second precinct of the Fifteenth ward thrown out on the same ground. If one goes out the other will have to go also, and the Republicans will be gainers by about two hundred votes

While those personally interested in the result of the election thus express their purpose citizens generally are by no means backward in denouncing the cutrageous methods of intimidation which the deputy United States marshals practiced. A Journal reporter, yesterday, found when the matter of the election was broached to any one a ready condemnation of all phases of fraud and threats. The result of his inquiry in this line is here given.

Wm. D. Wiles. "I was judge in my precinct, the first of the Thirteenth ward. We had a quite enough election, and in counting out we found one double Democratic ballot which we threw out. The deputy marshals did not bother us any, but some of the arrests I have heard and read of are outrageous and Marshal Hawkins ought to be made to smart for them; and I think that all good citizens ought to condemn the voting of insane people. There is no doubt but that there were many illegal votes cast I know of one young man, a traveling salesman in Murphy & Hibben's store who owns a part interest in a small piece of property who swore in twenty-five or thirty votes over the challenges of Republicans, and I think the matter ought to be looked into."

James T. Layman: "I am willing to do my there toward seeing all election law-breakers brought to justice. The action of the Democrats in hauling the insane paupers to the polls and voting them was scandalous, and I am willing to go upon record as condemning any such work, no matter by whom it is done.

E C. Atkins: "It was the first time I ever went to the poils and stayed there during the entire day, and I must confess I was surprised to see the kind of men that run our elections. I was at the third precinct of the Sixteenth ward. There were several deputy marshals present during the day and a number of ar-rests were made. The deputies were not a remarkably respectable looking set of citizens. It was reported that I was arrested, but it was not true; but I was threatened with arrest several times if I did not keep my mouth shut; but that did not prevent me from putting in my word whenever I thought it was necessary and proper. There were several arrests in our preeinct and I was at the marshal's office three or four times securing the release of parties whom knew were wrongfully arrested. There were two votes taken in over our challenge, and that, too, without requiring any property-holder to make cath that they were entitled to vote, as was invariably required by the supervisor when a Republican vote was challenged. I hope the voting of insane people will never again be al-rocky." General Kneffer, "I was at my precinct, the third of the Eighth ward, all day, and the election there was quiet. We think there was one illegal vote cast. We challenged several others and they went away and did not come back. I hid not see a deputy marshal during the day. and I did some pretty loud talking, and I am told that men were arrested in other wards for making less noise than I did. What we need in this State is a new election law that will provide for a different way of receiving and counting the vote, and will prevent the repetition of voting the insane paupers as was done last Tues-

R. K. Syfers: "I have nothing to say, unless I am compelled to in court. I have quit polities. The country is saved, and I am attending strictly to the wholesale grocery business." S. M. Bruce: "At my precinct, the first in Warren township, there were two deputy marshals who saw everything that the Republicans did, but were blind to Democratic work. The Democrats got every one of the purchasable votes, and though I did not see any money change hands, and have not enough evidence to found a prosecution upon, yet there are some things a man can know without seeing them. The independent, intelligent voters were with us. I would like to see every man who voted illegally, or swore in an illegal vote, prosecuted, and if there is any way of handling the men who acted as deputy marshals, and made unlawful arrests, I want to see it done." C. Vonnegut: "I am down on the action of the deputy marshals and the methods that some of them employed on election day, and I think the voting of the insane paupers was an outrage on every good citizen, Democrat or Republican, in the county. Our election laws need changing so as to make such things impossible."

A. H. Nordyke: "My precinct is No. 3 of the Twenty-fifth ward, and I was at the polls all day. There were several deputy mershals there. They were a rough set, and did not look like men of enough intelligence to understand the has been indulged in by the citizens of Indianorders that Marshal Hawkins had given. They made arrests indiscriminately, and I was threatened with arrest several times. I took a number of names of illegal voters, and also the names of the men who swore them in, and intend to do what I can to have them prosecuted. If we can get about fifty men behind the bars we will have less election frauds hereafter. The actions of the deputy marshais, and of the men who voted the insane paupers, were outrages upon every decent citizen of the community." Col. John W. Ray: "No man can occupy the position that Marshal Hawkins has and at the same time delegate his official power to another, as be has done. His course has been outrageous and be should be made to suffer for it. There can be no skulking the blame all falls on his shoulders." Worth Wright: "All that I care to say is that United States Marshal Hawkins has acted a part unworthy of his position as a high official. I can't put it in any stronger terms." Col. J. A. Bridgiand: "Marshal Hawkins violated the law. His choice of deputies plainly showed that he was determined to have the Democracy win under any consideration. The man has displayed to the citizens of Indiana, and to the country at large, his downright littleness in political matters."

Moses G. McLain: "Some of the men appointed as deputies on last Tuesday by Marshal Hawkins, together with the dirty work they did, was the most infamous outrage ever perpetrated on the Indiana election system. It was a disgrace, and is looked upon as such by all respectable citizens of both parties."

Taylor Elliott: "I am so disgusted at what Marshal Hawkins has done in abusing his authority that I hardly care to discuss it. Looking at his course of action from any stand-point whatever, it exposes no good motives on his part. It was simply an attempt to introduce into Indiana politics the Mississippi plan of

Hon. Stanton J. Peelle: "Well, when you mention Marshal Hawkins's name to me it fairly makes my blood boil with mingled rage and disgust. You have asked me my opinion of his course on Tuesday, but were I to put it in the strongest terms that my feelings toward the man dictate it would hardly be fit for publication. The character of many of the men commissioned as deputies was not only a disgrace to a civilized community, but their conduct at the polls was so outlandish and so similar to the Southern shotgun policy that the whole thing from beginning to end was such as no honest man desiring a fair election could in-

R. R. Shiel: "I have hadtwenty years' experience at election polls, but never in all that time have I ever witnessed such gross insults upon American citizenship as were committed on last Tuesday through the sanction of Marshall Hawkins. I am led to believe that Hawkins's course was simply one of desperation, and it will remain deep in the memories of the citizens of Indianapolis for many years to come! Marshal Hawkins has stated that he took care to keep disreputable characters off the force of deputies, but the police have sufficient acquaintance with some of them to show that the marshal did not succeed in rejecting all of that class. Turnkey Taffe said yesterday: "I know three of the men who were deputies. They have been locked up here at the station several times. It generally takes two or three men to arrest one of them. On several occasions the officers have been compelled to knock them down in order to bring them into the station-house. One of the deputies is especially regarded by the police as a tough character. Another, who is colored, has been locked up several times for gambling. He has also served a number work-house sentences. The third one has been out of the penitentiary only a short time, and since his release has been arrested and served out two sentences in the Officer Hensley said he knew eight or ten of the deputies who have served out both workhouse and jail sentences. "I also know," he continued, "three who served several years in the penitentiary. One of this number just lately served a six months' jail sentence under Sheriff King. Several of the deputies in the western part of the city are known to be notorious saloon-bums. In one of the western wards the deputy marshal was a man who has been sent to the work-house five or six times on the charge of vagrancy."

Officer Weirick added his evidence in saving that "one-third of those who acted as deputy marshals are known to the police as either habitual drunkards, gamblers, ex-convicts or thieves. I know two of them," he said, "who have served sentences in the penitentiary.'

Officer Shaffer remarked that he was surprised at Marshal Hawkins's action in appointing among his deputies a lot of pecitentiary birds. thieves, gamblers and regular station-house re-Captain Campbell's testimony was that a number on the marshal's election day force are known to the police as ex-convicts, drunkards. vagrants, thieves, and men who have not had employment for over a year.

Sergeant Wheatley said some of the men who served under Marshai Hawkins came from the bardest gangs in the city. "The names of many of them," he continued, "can be found on the station-house register." Sergeant Dawson supported this statement, and added, "A number of the deputies have been in the work-house and

Prayer for Young Men.

To-morrow is the day of prayer for young men, and the whole week thereafter is to be observed by the Young Men's Christian Associations of the world as a week of prayer. The international committee of the United States and British provinces requested the pasters of the country to preach about young men on Sunday morning. The programme for the day at the association rooms will commence with a consecration service at 9 o'clock. Active members, and Christian men, generally, are cordially invited. A song and prayer service for young men will take place at 4:15. Singing will commence at 4 o'clock. Dr. Jas. McLeod, by request, will repeat an address to young men Sunday night, at 8 o'clock, in Association Hall, a part of which he delivered on a recent Sunday afternoon. The work of the international committee will be presented. A song service of thirty minutes, commencing at 7:30, will precede the Doc-

The Association building will be opened during the week at 8:45 o'clock to allow persons who may wish to join the secretaries in morning prayer. The regular monthly meeting of the association is to occur Monday night, Paroled by the Governor.

Governor Gray yesterday paroled John P. Quinn, alias John Parker, and John D. Snearly. alias John Forbes. They were tried and convicted in the Jackson Circuit Court a year ago on the charge of grand larceny. The crime charged against them was the swindling of an old farmer, Zachariah Deputy, out of $3,000 by bunko. James Karnes, who was found guilty with them, was released last August, the judge and many citizens having signed a petition for his parole. After the three men had been convicted and were serving their sentences it developed that they were not the right parties, and detactives arrested Ed Rice, Chas. Stewart and Punch Maron. They were brought to Indiana upon a requisition and tried, but the jury disagreed. They gave bail and forfeited it and left the State, and have not since been rear-

The Soldiers' Monnment.

The Soldiers' Monument Commissioners decided yesterday to advertise for bids on the superstructure early in December. They say that contractors are showing so much interest in the work that many are already preparing their bids. The stone to be used is to be limited to the Indiana collitie. The commissioners spent the day yesterday going over the plans for the superstructure with deputy architect Baughman. Architect Schmitz is in the south of Germany recuperating, as his health for some weeks has been bad on account of overwork. Secretary Gookins has printed in colors the attractive perspective of the monument.

PARADE OF THE VICTORS

Republicans to Close the Days of Rejoicing with a Formal Demonstration.

There Will Be No Meetings or Speeches, but Everybody Is Asked to Fall in Line for the Last Grand March.

To-night the Republicans will hold their grand rally in honor of the election of Gen. Harrison. Owing to the fact that so much demonstration spolis, and the lateness of the time in attempting any such formal organization, it is not expected by those in charge that any completely arranged parade can be made. The object is simply to afford all Republicans, whether of Indiana or any other lecality, an opportunity to fall in line and show to the public and to Gen. Harrison that they hold in due regard the honor recently conferred upon him. The committee on arrangements held a meeting last night at the New Denison and selected Col. N. R. Ruckle as chief marshal of the evening. His staff will consist of Charles J. Many, Benjamin C. Wright, J. H. Ohver, Samuel H. Shearer, Frank Erdlemyer, W. O. Patterson, Wilbur F. Winchester, P. M. Hildebrand, Louis Weisenberger, W. N. Harding, George C. Webster and Dr. John J. Garver. All clubs and citizens participating are requested to observe the following order of formation, which will be strictly adhered to:

Mounted Police. Chief Marshal and Staff. First division, Maj. Jas. R. Ross commanding. Forming on Delaware street, right resting on Wash-First Regiment Harrison and Morton Veterans, with Harrison and Morton Campaign Ball. Railroad Club.

> Columbia Club. Porter Columbians. Waramaker Club. Commercial Travelers. Porter Flambeaux. Griffith Guards. Harrison Zonaves.

Second Division, Col. W. D. Wiles Commanding. Form on Alabama street, right resting on Washing-

Local Ward and Township Clubs. Tin-horn Brigade. Third Division, Harry Smith Commanding. Form on Maryland Street, right resting on Ala-Visiting Delegations.

All clubs are requested to report at their respective places of formation by 7:45 o'clock, as the parade will move at 8. The line of march will be as follows: West on Washington to Pennsylvania; north on Pennsylvania to North; east on North to Delaware: north on Delaware to Sixth. Here the entire parade will be reviewed by General Harrison from his residence, where a countermarch will be made on Delaware street to Washington, when the clubs will be dismissed. It is hoped by the committee in charge that all Republicans in the city will turn out and take part in the demonstration, and although the time has been too brief to accomplish any further organization than has been made there will be plenty of opportunities for all to participate who feel so inclined.

A Lull to the Rejoicing.

The city was comparatively quiet last night, as contrasted with the bediam that has been raging since the election of General Harrison, although as it was there was sufficient demonstration to convince one that the victory is still cherished with unlimited local pride. The final rally arranged for this evening is looked forward to as a fitting end of the past week. After the wild excitement of the first few days of rejoicing had passed away the lull of yesterday more as a forerunner the renewal to-night, affording needed rest to the hundreds of citizens who have been rejoicing with tin horas and red paint. The Saw and Wheel makers' Republican Club took its turn last night, not having appeared since the election in any organized form. In single file, 200 strong, they paraded the streets, carrying with them fifty circular saws of varying diameters, upon which a constant din and clatter was kept up with iron bolts and rods. Behind them marched the remainder of the club, with torches and flags. This unique procession marched direct to General Harrison's residence, where the greetings of the club were responded to by the General in a brief speech. E. C. Atkins was next visited, and the serenade was renewed. A third repetition was given in front of the Journal office. As a sort of farewell the Sentinel office was given a call, but no very hearty reception was there tendered them. On the streets some little excitement was still kept up, bringing into line the tin horn as the most convenient mode of ratification. By midnight, however, the city was quiet, and the crowds on the streets dis-

General Harrison's Visitors.

A committee of six representatives of the Cincinnati Commercial Club, consisting of J. L. Schmidlapf, Hermann Goepper, Earl W. Stinson, Jno. S. Woods, Julius Dexter and A. B. Vorbees, called upon General Harrison yesterday afternoon to extend to him a formal invitation to attend the annual dinner of the club to be given at Cincinnati on Thursday, Nov. 22. The General kindly thanked the committee, stating that with the present rush of business no definite answer could be given, but that he would take the matter under advisement and reply as soon as possible. Among the other visitors was a delegation of citizens of Monroe township, Madison county, at the head of which was ex-Senator A. E. Harland.

A Correspondent Complimented. Charles Hedges, the correspondent of the Associated Press, has been here since the nomination of General Harrison, and that his work has been appreciated by the managers of the service is shown in a telegram he received from A. C. Thomas, the superintendent of the association at Chicago. It read: "I have been too busy to congratulate any one. I wish now to say that the press of the country is indebted to you for faithful, intelligest and prompt service. Your position has been one of the most delicate and trying that an Associated Press agent ever filled. I congratulate you."

Letter-Carriers Want Protection. Since the election the lives of the letter-carriers have been made a barden to them by rejoicing Republicans, and the policeman's chorus in the "Pirates of Pentance," with a slight change, could appropriately be sung by them. When a letter carrier's duty's to be done, to be done,

The carrier's lot is not a happy one, happy one. Yesterday one of them was on the street with a placard upon his breast on which was printed in large letters the following words: "I am a Democrat. Don't bother me."

ANOTHER CRISIS IN BRAZIL.

An Anti-Monarchical Agitation Resulting from Emaneipation.

Rio Letter in New York Tribune. Another crisis growing out of the labor question has seemed to threaten the empire. The threat "Down with monarchy" has not been altogether a silent muttering, notwithstanding the high esteem in which the sovereign is held by the mass of his subjects. The cry was first raised by the inland planters, and it was taken up throughout the land, in no place more readily than in Sao Paule, the hothed of innevations. Paradoxical as it seems, this incipient demand for a democratic government is but the natural reaction from the great popular enthusiasm for the emancipation act. Finding themselves at once deprived of their chattels, apparently at the instigation of the royal family, many of the wealthier planters accuse the government of direct robbery, and hence of direct tyranny. Although the rising excitement was allayed by the promise of fluancial aid, and the actual pegotiation of the loan, it was one that money could not wholly quiet, the more so in that the demand was already taken up by the lesders who had demanded the abolizion of slavery. To ward off this danger required not gold alors, but diplomacy. The diplomacy has consisted in scattering widespread honors and titles. Four titles are permissable in the empire-Baron, Count, Viscount and Marquis. The majority of titles heretofore existent were handed down from the days of Portuguese dominion, or from the early days of the empire. A few have, from time to time, been added in recognition of marked ability or distinguished service. Since the 13th of March, however, and especially since the first mutterings of a menacing discontent, these honors have fallen like snow-flakes on those who took a

Until four weeks ago there was still one powerful antagonist in the field who dealt as sturdy blows against monarchy as he had against slavery. This was Jose do Patrocinio, the mulatto editor of the first abolition " paper owned by a Brazilian, and the most popular orator of the realm. For seventeen years his constant demand had been "Down with slavery;" now it has become "Downswith monarchy, the sum of all slavery." Some four weeks ago, in coming from the crowded cathefiral where a church festival was being celebrated, the Princess chanced to meet Patrocinio, who was leading his little six-year-old daughter. Instantly her Royal Highness dropped upon her knees, clasped the child in her arms, and pressed her lips warmly against its swarthy

Ringing Noises

In the ears, sometimes a roaring, buzzing sound, or snapping like the report of a pistol, are caused by catarrh, that exceedingly disagreeable and very common disease. Loss of smell or hearing also result from catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the greal blood purifier, is a peculiarly successful remedy for this disease, which it cures by purifying the blood. "I have been a sufferer from catarrh for a good many years. I tried nearly everything I heard of, with little or no benefit, until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I am now using with good results. I can recommend it heartily to all in need of a good medicine." MRS. A. R. DUNHAM, Omaha, Neb.

Six Children at a Birth. Dallas (Tex.) Special to Pittsburg Dispatch.

Mrs. George Hirsch, of Navarro county, gave birth to six children on the afternoon of Saturday. Nov. 3. The mother and children are doing well and the father is ressonably happy. A reporter who visited the homestead yesterday found about one hundred people present, all examining the broad of babies. There are four boys and two girls. The father, George Hirsch, is thirty-one, and his wife twenty-saven. They have been married five years and have three children beside the recent accession. Hirsch is of German descent, and has named the quartet of boys Frederick, R. Q. Mills, Cleveland, and Thurman Hirsch. The girls are Victoria and Louise. All are perfectly proportioned, but very small. The babies all seem healthy. The Hirsch family is poor but prolific, and the mother is a large, healthy woman. The babies are all tagged, to preserve their identity.

Largely Due to the Influence of the Journal. Cincinnati Enquirer.

For whatever measure of success he has achieved in Indiana, General Harrison is largely indebted to the support of the leading newspaper of his State, published in the city in which he lives. The printing press was worked with great assiduity and intelligence in his behalf, and the editor of the paper in question can doubtless have very honorable and profitable connection with the next administration if he wants it. His experience in the campaign, however, may have so attached him to journalism that he will hold office in contempt.

A Sigh for Hewita

Philadelphia Inquirer (Rep.) If the happiest result of the campaign is the defeat of Mr. Cleveland, the sorriest one is the defeat of Abram S. Hewitt, the most independent and patriotic citizen and officeholder in the land. The people of 'ew York will live to regret this more than they did the election of District Attorney Fellows.

The Saloon Comes High.

"But what a lot of money these high-toned travelers waste for drink," said Uncle Abner, as he isid down his newpaper. "A man who'll pay $100 for a saloon passage to England, when he can go in the steerage for $20, is a slave to rum-that's what I say!"

SKIN, SCALP AND BLOOD

Diseases Cured by Cuticura Remedies When Hot Springs, Doctors and All Other Medicines Fail.

Having been a sufferer for two years and a half from a disease caused by a bruise on the leg and having been cured by the CUTICUEA REMEDIES when all other methods and remedies failed. I deem it my duty to recommend them. I visited Hot Springs to no avail, and tried several doctors without success, and at last our principal druggist, Mr. John P. Finlay (to whom I shall ever feel grateful), spoke to me about CUTICURA, and I consented to give them a trial with the result that I am perfectly cured. There is now no sore about me. I think I can show the largest surface where my suffering sprang from of any one in the State. The CUTICURA REMEDIES are the best blood and skin cures manufactured. I refer to druggist John P. I treated it for seven years unsuccessfully, and was unable to check it, until I found your CUTI-CURA REMEDIES. One box CUTICURA, one cake CUTICURA SOAP, and one bottle CUTICURA RESOLV. ENT completely cured me, my skin becoming perfectly clear and smooth.

"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, and re" ceived great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head.
